

RESILIENT RETREAT'S
GRAND OPENING
CELEBRATION LUNCHEON

July 25, 2022

Dear Friend,

We are writing to invite you to become a Hero for Hope as an event sponsor for our upcoming Grand Opening Celebration Luncheon on Thursday, November 3, 2022 featuring award-winning actress and trauma survivor, Ashley Judd. Please see the accompanying sponsorship package for a list of opportunities to support our mission to empower survivors of trauma to thrive through self-care and community.

This event is an unparalleled opportunity for you or your business to gain visibility in our community. We anticipate more than 500+ guests in attendance. Many of our sponsorships offer you the opportunity to attend our Sponsor Reception Meet & Greet with Ashley Judd as well as a book signing, plus receive many other forms of on-site and on-line recognition. Several sponsorships have limited availability, so don't wait to secure your place!

This event kicks off the opening of our retreat center on 84 acres of conservation land. The Retreat Center will have the capacity to welcome up to 30 people for overnight trauma-informed retreats, as well as 100+ people at a time for interdisciplinary day programs focused on healing the entire person, such as support groups, cooking classes, exercise classes, time with a therapy dog, meditation and experiences in nature.

Resilient Retreat was founded in response to an unmet need—a gap in services nationwide. We offer evidence-based and confidential services for community members impacted by trauma, specifically survivors of abuse and professionals who witness trauma in the workplace (e.g., police officers, fire fighters, teachers and many non-profit workers) at no cost to the participant. Our research-based wraparound services include support groups, neurofeedback, animal therapy, yoga, massage, art/music therapy and much more. These services all address the impact of trauma on the mind, body, and spirit. We also offer a Kind Line answered by trauma-informed staff, day programs and a wide variety of community trainings on trauma.

Stress and anxiety are at an all-time high and the need for our services is greater than ever. As an event sponsor, you will increase your visibility as someone who cares about the community and your generosity will offer hope. YOU will make it possible for us to help those impacted by trauma on their road to resilience.

Sincerely,

Mark Muse
Event Chair

P.S. Sponsors at the $3,000+ level will receive an autographed copy of Ashley Judd's book, All That is Bitter and Sweet: A Memoir. Secure your sponsorship by August 15 to be recognized on our luncheon invitation!

Ashley grew up with mental illness in her family. Her beloved mother, Naomi, lived for years with undiagnosed and untreated bipolar II; her father suffered from depression, and in 2006 Ashley herself went to in-patient treatment to heal emotional pain stemming from unresolved childhood trauma, grief and abuse. There, she learned recovery as a way of life, something she practices on a daily basis. Pushing back against generations of mental illness and the often-dysfunctional behaviors of those who must cope with a loved one's disease, Ashley speaks with authority on the topic of the mental illness epidemic in our society. She offers personal examples of how her own life was affected, advice on how to love and support those who are ill, and information about evidence-based methods of treatment and how to reduce stigma. Ashley tells an ultimately hopeful story about survival and resilience that everyone can relate to.
